FOUR PROSTRATIONS WITH MERCURY AT 93

City Swelters Under Intense Heat Wave, Which Spreads Everywhere.

KIOSK CLIMBS UP TO 100

Cool Rains Promised by Weather Bureau Failed to Bring Relief.

With the cooling rains promised by Washington failing of realization, and the entire absence of anything in the nature of a wind or breeze, the city sweltered yesterday under the hottest sun this year. At 3 o'clock the station at Chimborazo reported a temperature of 93 degrees in the shade—the highest point reached during the day. For the first time this year the tropical weather claimed human toll. Five prostrations were reported as a result of the intense heat.

Four Heat Victims.

Heat victims, all of whom were treated by Dr. H. T. Hawkins, ambulance surgeon of the City Hospital, were as follows:

J. J. Cooke, of 617 Stockton Street, South Richmond, overcome while at work at the Southern Stove Works.

Lewis Giles, colored, overcome in alley between Franklin and Main Streets, from Eighth to Ninth Streets.

David Pace, colored, at 610 North Thirtieth Street, overcome while at work on the new market building at Seventeenth and Grace Streets.

Louis Howell, colored, of 1015 South Lombard Street, overcome at Robinson and Main Streets.

Compared with June days of previous years, yesterday hovered near the record. The hottest June day recorded at the local office was June 8, 1899, when the mercury rose to within one degree of the century mark. On June 23 of last year the heat record of 93 degrees was the highest for that month. On June 22, 1911, the thermometer stood at 93—the same as yesterday's record. Unless the rains promised by the weather man materialize to-day, the thermometer promises to attain new heights, with the probability of a corresponding increase in the record of prostrations.

As Usual, the Kiosk Was Off.

Wayfarers through Capitol Square fled in dismay from the official register in the kiosk, which at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon stood a fraction above the 100 mark. There is something about the mere suggestion of 100 degrees Fahrenheit that makes people drop and collapse with, and those who looked once upon the kiosk last night in getting away. A large number crowded the shady benches around the fountains all day.

Hot while 93 in the shade is anything but comforting to a big, busy city which works every day in street and factory, optimists may find comfort from the thought that it is not as any means as hot as it can get in Richmond. The Weather Bureau is authorized for the statement that on August 1, 1900, the mercury attained a height of 102 degrees—the heat record for the past thirteen years.

Charleston, S. C., with 94 degrees, was the hottest city in the United States yesterday. Jacksonville, Norfolk, Raleigh and Savannah all fared worse than Richmond by one degree.

OSTEOPATHS TO MEET

Next Gathering of Association Will Be in Richmond.

Richmond will be the next place of meeting of the Virginia Osteopathic Association, which will convene at the City Hotel, Monday, July 2, at 10 o'clock.

Dr. William D. Martin, of Lynchburg, and Dr. George E. Ford, of Charlottesville, are the only osteopaths in the State who are members of the Association.

Other papers were by Dr. M. L. Richardson, of Norfolk, and Dr. Herbert S. Barker, of Staunton.

The association did a graceful thing in waiving the dues of the late Dr. J. B. Martin, of Lynchburg, president of the State Board of Medical Examiners.

SARAH JOHNSON WINS FLY PRIZE

Takes First Money in Swat Contest, With Big Lead Over Boy Scouts.

WORLD'S RECORD BROKEN

Church Hill Girl Will Use Money to Help Pay for College Education.

On the last lap of an exciting race, Sarah Johnson yesterday won first prize in the Times-Dispatch fly swatting contest by a comfortable lead of 119,000. The Boy Scouts, who pressed the Church Hill girl hard for the victory, fell by the wayside on the final count, and finished a bad second. While the Scouts spluttered noise, turning in a kill of 87,000 yesterday afternoon, Sarah showed them a clear pair of heels by making an entry of 151,000, representing her work since Saturday noon.

In the colored division, Inez Harris won first prize. Violet Crump fell into second place, and Cecil Whitely captured third money from Jack West. The other prize-winners were strung out behind the leaders.

To Help Get Education.

There is something in the winning of this prize to Sarah Johnson beside the mere acquisition of so much money. It brings her a step nearer the realization of her ambition. In her modest, unassuming way, she said yesterday that the $25 would be added to her savings already in bank, which are to be used to gratify a thirst for knowledge and to equip her for a life work. Sarah's ambition is to become a teacher. Her parents promised her a high school course if she finished the grammar school work, and she passed her last examination in the grammar school while the contest was most exciting.

This money which she won by her determined swatting will help to give her a teacher's training, once she is out of the high school. She looked like a very small girl yesterday, staggering into the Health Department with three boxes of flies. She was too modest to talk much about herself, and the little that was learned was given out by a member of her family.

The Boy Scouts will use their $25 to buy a tent for the troop and for other equipment, as far as the money holds out. These boys fought a manly fight against the Church Hill girl, and scored a little victory in the end. Her brave little opponent, who together put up a contest that was clean and fair, start to finish. Inez Harris, the colored prize-winner, will give her $20 to her mother.

Come and Get Your Money.

The winners will be paid by check this afternoon at the business office of The Times-Dispatch. All children whose names appear in the printed list at the head of this column are requested to call at the business office at 5 o'clock this afternoon and claim the reward for their labor. The counts have been verified and checked over, and are official. If, however, any contestant has receipts to show that a mistake has been made, complaint should be entered immediately this morning with the contest committee, which is headed by Neil D. Sills.

The prize money, which is being held by the Times-Dispatch, has been upped every evening for the last several days. The total kill of $54,960 flies made yesterday will probably stand for a long time as the record performance. Sarah Johnson's record was an almost unbreakable mark with her total slaughter, and even the Boy Scouts in second place, have beaten the world's record by more than 100,000.

AMONG THE SPEEDERS

J. R. Paschall, Jr., Fined in County, Takes Appeal.

"Squire Smith, in emulation of Justice John, clapped a $30 fine on J. R. Paschall, Jr., yesterday when the latter was brought before him on the charge of speeding. The fine imposed is near the maximum penalty provided by the laws of the county, and the defendant immediately took an appeal.

Following the severe report of the grand jury sent out on a crusade against speeding on the line roads of the county, but efforts so far have been attended with but moderate success. More emphasis is expected from the next grand jury, to whom the severity of the county board will be presented.

NEWHOUSE CANDIDATE

Well-Known Virginian Wants to Be Doorkeeper at Baltimore.

Colonel S. Morton Newhouse, of Culpeper, doorkeeper in a place as assistant doorkeeper in the Democratic National Convention in Baltimore. He is making an earnest canvass for the appointment, and with the backing of National Committeeman J. Taylor Ellison and others, it seems he is likely to be successful.

For several seasons Newhouse has been first doorkeeper in the Virginia House of Delegates, of which he was formerly a member. He is a man of high character, and is well known in the State. He is expected to be a successful candidate for the position of doorkeeper at the Baltimore Convention.

Who Is the Richest Man in the World?

A little boy of inquiring mind and curiosity asked this question the other day, expecting to be told some especial individual. The answer given him is the real answer. It applies EVERYWHERE: "The richest man in the world is the man who is GENUINELY HAPPY." Our idea of a GENUINELY HAPPY man is one who lives within his income and saves enough to help make OTHERS HAPPY.

FINED FOR BEING DRUNK ON DUTY

Patrolman Warriner Taxed $150 by Police Board—Tait Fined for Going to Sleep.

On the theory that it is more economical, the Board of Police Commissioners last night decided that Chief of Police should be provided with an automobile. A resolution was adopted asking the City Council for an appropriation of $2,000 for this purpose.

Chief of Police Werner now uses a trap for his tours of the city, and it is the belief of the board that he can cover a great deal more territory by the use of a motor car.

Three officers were arraigned before the board on various charges.

Patrolman R. Warriner, of the First District, was tried for being drunk while on duty. He was found guilty and fined $150. He was also severely reprimanded.

Patrolman W. G. Tait, of the First District, was convicted of being asleep while on duty. He was fined $25 and reprimanded.

Traffic Officer W. D. Schief, of the Second District, who was reported by a citizen for conduct unbecoming an officer, was acquitted. His trial consumed more than two hours. He was advised, however, that it was improper for an officer to arrest a person for addressing personal remarks to him.

Whole Lodge Exposed.

The second case, that of Mitchell Braxton, a negro laborer living at 150 Braxton Street, and employed by the Fuller Construction Company in the erection of the First National Bank skyscraper, was brought to Dr. Hudson's attention a few hours later. Braxton was taken sick June 9, and broke out with smallpox on Saturday. During the interim between his first illness and the actual appearance of the marks, Braxton was visited by a number of negroes, most of whom are members of a colored organization known as Israel Lodge.

After putting Braxton's house under rigid quarantine, Dr. Hudson began the task of learning who had been exposed to the infection. Much to the relief of those connected with the construction of the bank building, the health official does not believe there is any danger of an epidemic from this case discovered among the laborers there.

Besides ordering the burning of all tools or instruments handled by Braxton in his work, Dr. Hudson advised the vaccination of all negroes employed in the same gang with the sick man. Braxton will be moved to the smallpox hospital as soon as possible.

Six Cases Under Treatment.

Being unable to find the addresses of negroes, all of whom were directly exposed to the infection, Dr. Hudson asks that the list be published in order that any one whose name appears there may be apprised of his danger and be vaccinated this morning. These men were called at Braxton's house yesterday and were directly exposed to the disease: Henry Thomas, Zach Hicks, Sam White, Thomas Harrell, James Minis, Felix Rice, Henry Hartfield, Walter Atkinson, Richard Sully, Isaac Roane, John Pergram, George Moss, Hez Herbert, Robert Nelson and Robert Allen.

The appearance of these two cases brings the total number of smallpox patients under treatment in Richmond at this time up to six. While this condition is alarming at first glance, the health officials find that none of the detected cases is of a virulent type, and they are confident that the outbreak can be smothered.

While Harris's handling of the mail bags was enough to spread the infection if the bags had been sent out, there is practically no danger that the germs could have been communicated by the letters inside. To be on the safe side, however, Dr. Hudson had all of the mail handled by the negro fumigated.

Board of Aldermen Called.

President Robert Whitely, Jr., of the Board of Aldermen yesterday called a meeting of the Board to be held to-morrow night at 8 o'clock. The regular monthly business will be transacted.

Among the important matters to be taken up by the Board at this meeting will be the award of the $50,000 contract for the smooth roofing of Broad Street to J. J. Smith & Co., and the Ferguson ordinance, providing officers of the city from holding offices in any political party. Other measures come to the Board from the Common Council.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses were issued yesterday in the office of the clerk of the Hustings Court: Dr. Ernest C. Levy and Mary Elizabeth Detweiler; Robert F. Ferrier and Rosa Ethel Clarke; Will Miles Whitburn and Annie Burruss Crane; James Smith and Eva Lovell Fowler; Early O. Wingo and Bettie May High; Louis Fox, of Philadelphia, and Sarah Schelter, of this city; James Melvin McCabe and Mary Teresa McGuire.

SMALLPOX CASE AT POST OFFICE

Mail Bags Handled by Driver Destroyed and Mail Thoroughly Fumigated.

ANOTHER CASE DOWNTOWN

Negro Employed as Workman at New Bank Building Also Stricken.

A sharp fright was injected into the downtown section of the city yesterday by the discovery of smallpox cases at the post-office and at the new building being erected for the First National Bank at Ninth and Main Streets. While neither case appeared virulent upon medical examination, both had passed the incubent stage, and were capable of spreading the infection. Both cases were brought to the attention of Dr. C. C. Hudson, of the Health Department, yesterday morning, and received prompt emergency treatment.

As an offset to the outbreak, Dr. Hudson and the health officials advised wholesale vaccination. As the Health Department no longer enforces compulsory vaccination, and does gratuitously only as much as can be done by Dr. Hudson, most of those in any way exposed to the contagion will have to seek the services of a regular practitioner. Not only the homes of the two patients were thoroughly fumigated and quarantined, but the mail bags which had touched their hands were destroyed or disinfected.

Mail Bags Destroyed.

The most threatening of the two cases, the one discovered in the post office, consisted of the number of people who were exposed. The victim is Joe Harris, of 409 Katherine street, who drives a mail wagon. Harris was taken sick on June 1, going to bed on June 10, when he broke out with what he thought was a case of chickenpox. In spite of his condition, he reported for work yesterday morning early, and made two trips to the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Station before his appearance attracted the attention of post-office employees.

The marks on his face finally so alarmed the authorities that Dr. Hudson was appealed to for an examination. As soon as the official discovered the real nature of the disease, he rushed to the mail bags which had been handled by Harris, burned and thoroughly fumigated the mail room. Harris's home was disinfected and put under quarantine.

Fortunately, Dr. Hudson succeeded in obtaining the mail bags which Harris had taken to the station and had them burned immediately. The mail wagon was disinfected, and all employees who were either directly or indirectly exposed were vaccinated. The case, and later the contract to a printer who had authority to use the emblem.

Learning that a warrant had been issued for him, Adams surrendered at the Second Police Station, where he at once gave bail.

LOCAL TITLE RETAINED

Act of Congress Does Not Interfere With Name "Virginia Volunteers."

Various newspapers throughout the country have made the mistake of supposing that the new army bill wipes out the distinctive appellations given by the States to their militia bodies. Submerging all in the general term "National Guard," this would destroy the term "Virginia Volunteers," which has been used for many years and is legally and officially known.

Army journals point out that as the bill passed the House of Representatives, it retained the general term "organized militia." The Senate amended it so as to read "organized militia of the State of Virginia." The conference committee adopted the words "or National Guard," which leaves the designation "Virginia Volunteers" as a local term, such as "Kentucky State Guards," "Volunteer Militia of Massachusetts," and "Virginia Volunteers."

Tyler Is Fined $2 by Justice Crutchfield for Walking Into Crowded Room.

For violating the rule of entering the Police Court when not directly interested in any case on trial and without permission, William Tyler was fined $2 yesterday morning by Justice Crutchfield. With nearly 100 cases to be disposed of, the courtroom was unusually crowded with witnesses and prisoners. Tyler, it was said, persisted in entering without a permit. He succeeded in gaining access, only to be reported to the court and fined. This is the first case of its kind which has occurred in months.

Arthur Hughes, colored, was fined $25 and costs for disorderly conduct in the office of the Richmond Transfer Company and resisting Officers Napier, Leiss and Stephens. Annie Reed, colored, who was arrested with Hughes, for refusing to move and interfering with the arrest, was fined $10 and costs.

Green Smith, colored, was fined $10 and costs for disorderly conduct in Monroe Park.

Joseph Jeffries, colored, was fined $20 and costs, for assaulting Emmet Gracely, also colored, with a stick. Thomas Harris, colored, was fined $100 and placed under $100 bond for twelve months for carrying a concealed weapon.

John Harvey, colored, was fined $25 and costs for refusing to move when ordered to do so by the police and resisting Officers Reid and Kidd. Reid testified that the negro hit him on the hand when he was placed under arrest.

Charles Hamlin, colored, was fined $20 and costs for disorderly conduct on the premises of Annie Lightfoot.
